Q23 Part C. Comments regarding possible challenges in meeting the objectives of the Convention (Art. 21, para. 1) the first difficulty is the collection of information, and the relevance of the statistical data.

the second difficulty lies in the adhesion and collaboration of other actors including the mining sector because the use of mercury is prohibited.

However, work is underway to raise awareness and to investigate the possible presence of mercury in fish for daily consumption in the vicinity of gold mining sites.
